

HappyKidsPrint.com presents

Gulliver

and the Secret Island of Lilliput

A great ship tossed and turned on a stormy sea, with dark clouds swirling above.

Suddenly, the ship broke apart! Gulliver fell into the crashing waves, lost in the moonlight.

After a long struggle, Gulliver washed ashore on a quiet, sandy beach and fell fast asleep.

When he woke, he couldn't move! Tiny ropes held his arms and legs down.

Then, hundreds of tiny people appeared, holding even tinier tools and looking up at him.

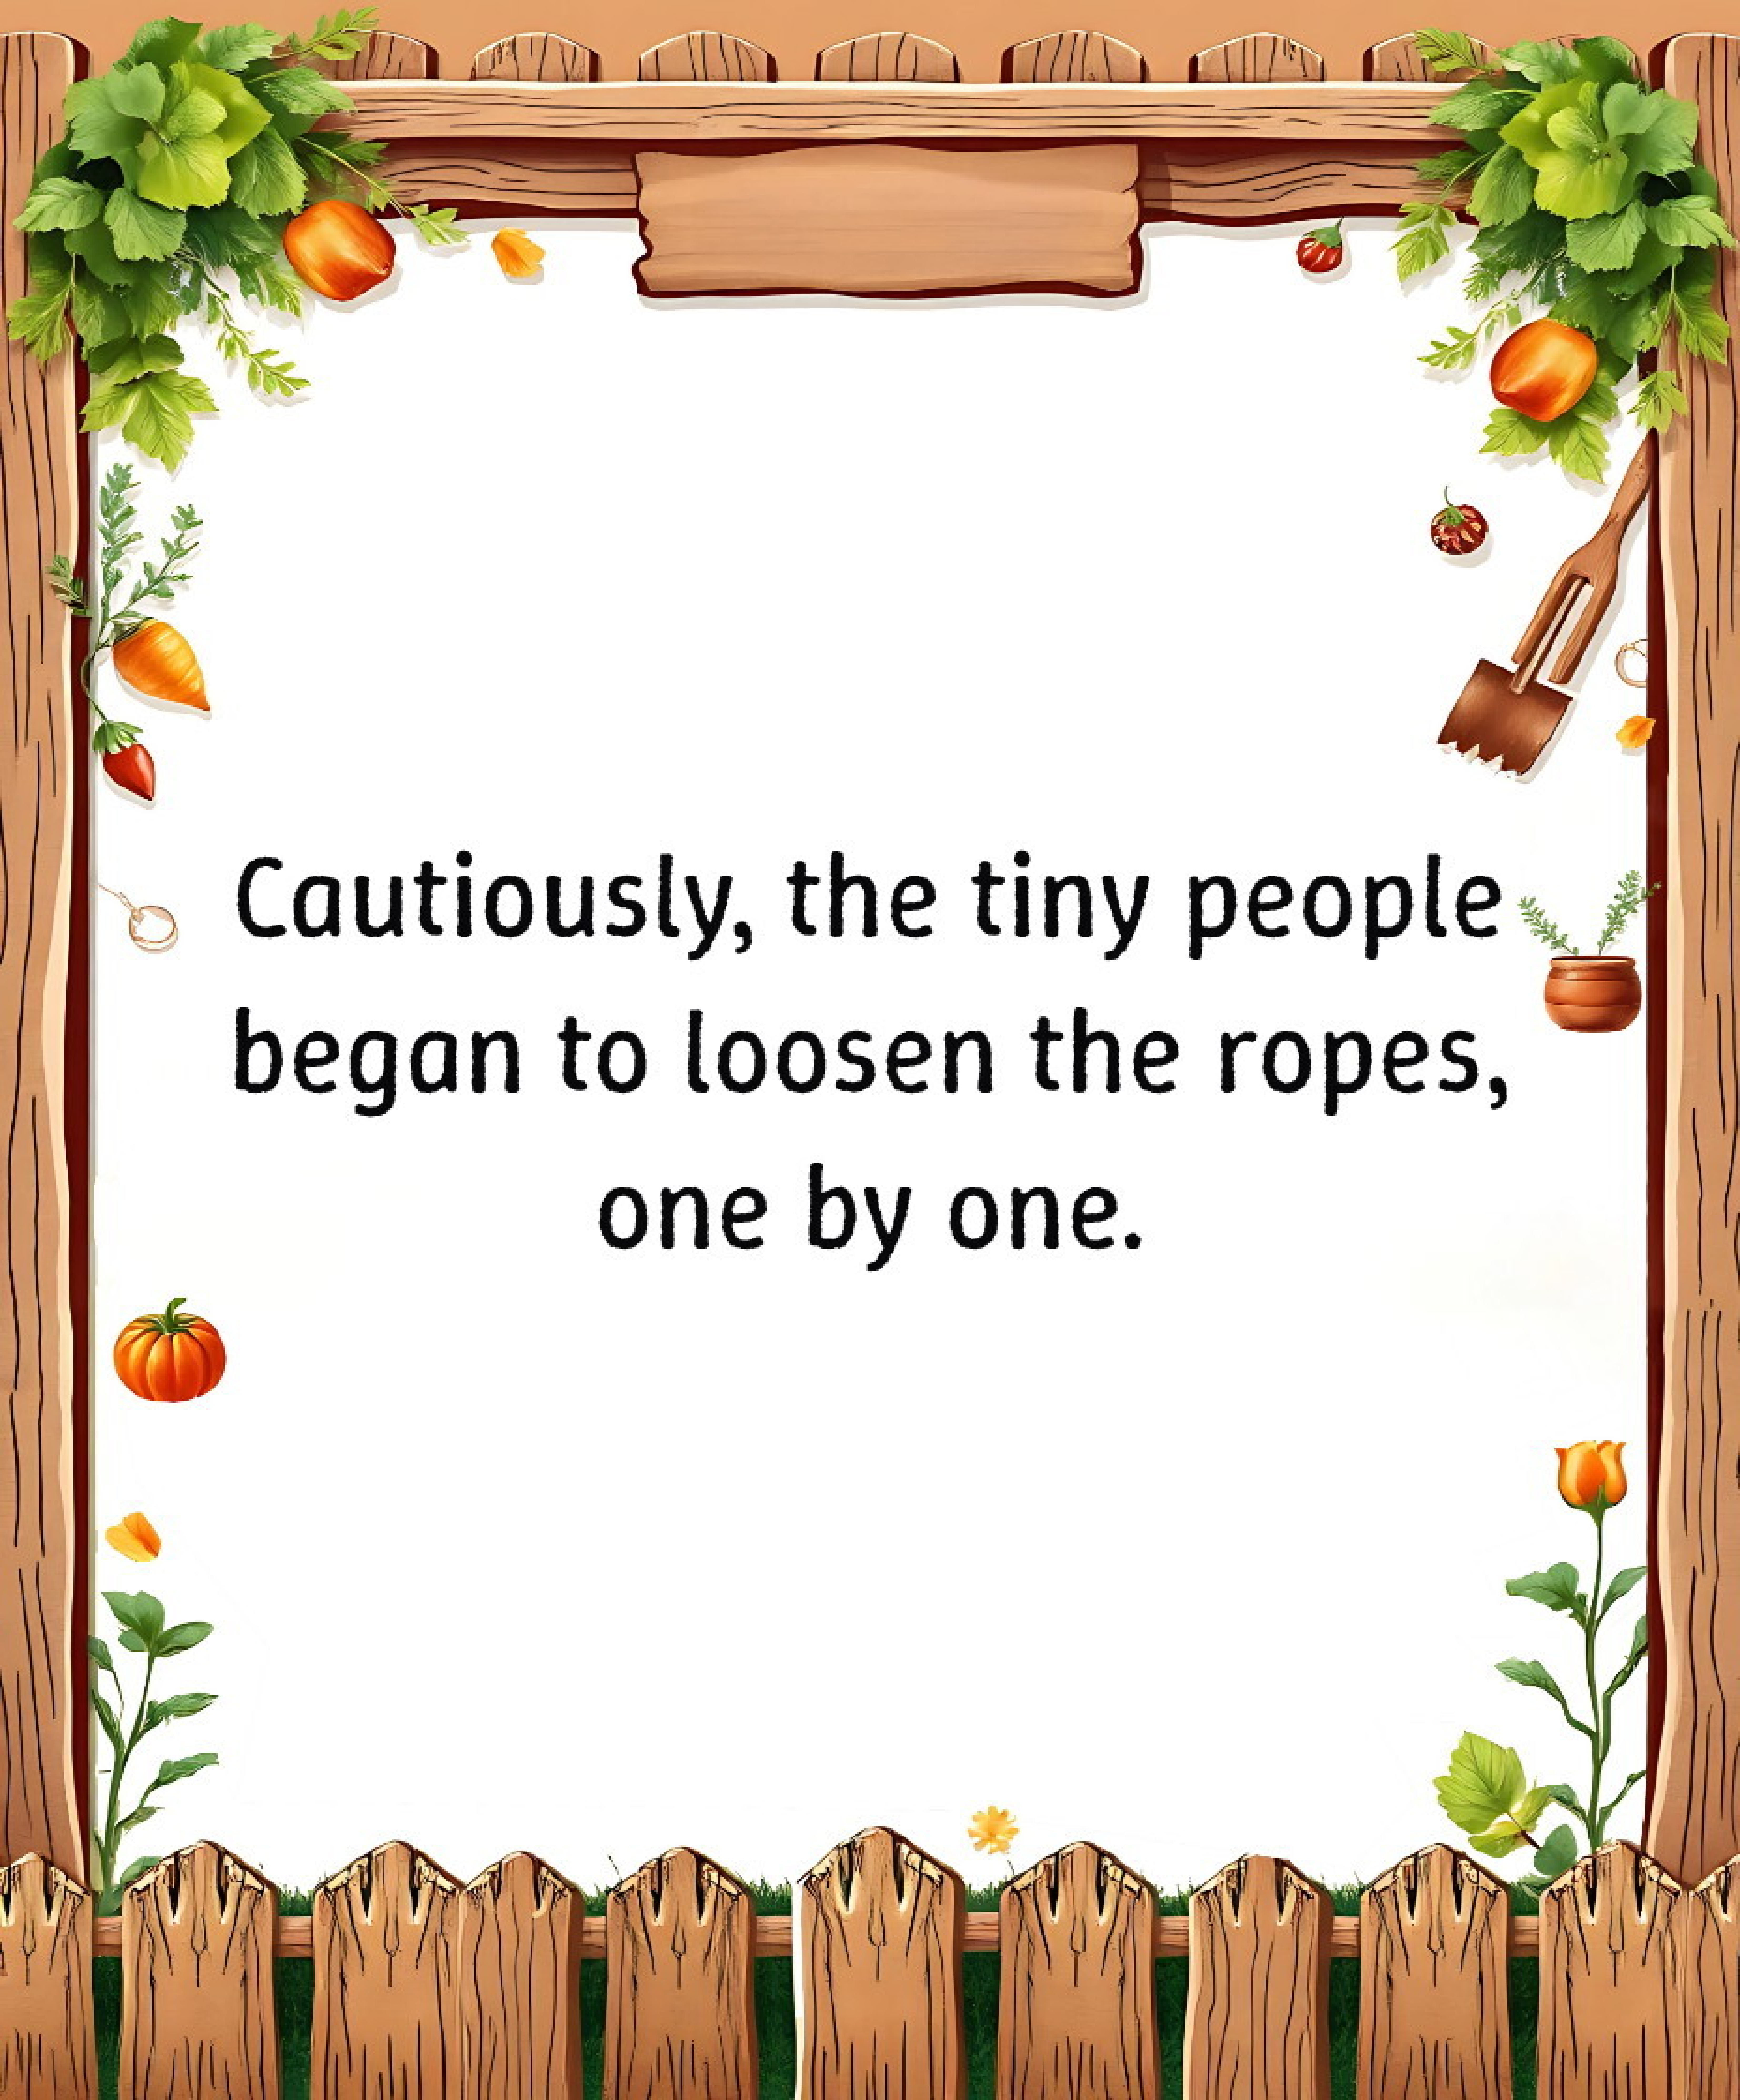

They whispered to each other, some hiding behind their friends, quite afraid of the giant man.

Gulliver stayed very still and smiled gently, trying to show them, "I will not hurt you."

Cautiously, the tiny people began to loosen the ropes, one by one.

Gulliver slowly sat up, careful not to scare them, his hands flat on the ground.

The Lilliputians pointed to a small, broken bridge, looking worried.

With just one finger, Gulliver gently fixed the fallen bridge, making the people cheer.

Next, they showed him a garden that needed protection from the strong wind. Gulliver used his hand as a shield.

Then, a tiny child slipped near the edge of the water! Everyone cried out in fear.

Gulliver quickly reached out, gently scooping the child to safety. "Thank you," whispered the grateful child.

A soft cheer rose from the islanders, their faces beaming with happiness.

Inspired by Gulliver, the Lilliputians stopped arguing and began to work together to rebuild their homes.

Gulliver watched them, feeling proud and content as he sat peacefully on the island.

Soon, the time came for Gulliver to leave, as the shoreline glowed with the sunrise.

The tiny people waved goodbye with flags and smiles, filled with gratitude for their giant friend.

Gulliver carefully stepped into the calm sea, ready for his next adventure.

He looked back one last time, a soft smile on his face, remembering,
"Kindness is true strength."

The island faded into the distance, a small, warm memory against the calm sea and sky.

The End

Explore more stories at HappyKidsPrint.com